Dear Parent/Carers,

As we come into the winter - we have experienced issues around the children's footwear in the past.

I am writing today to politely request that the children do not come into school wearing ankle, or longer length boots please. In the wet weather, there may well be a need to wear Wellington boots or similar to school - which the children can change from when they come into school.

Many do this already and it is absolutely fine. However, many more 'fashionable' boots such as DMs, can, and have caused, accidents around school - something we would clearly wish to avoid.

Many of these do not fasten properly, or the children are unable to fasten them, and they do cause trips and falls. The children spend a good deal of time playing outside - which is why school footwear has been designed in the way that it has.

Thank you for your support with this.

Yours Sincerely,

R Westley
